A Message from the Chairwoman and President

For a Foundation that began its journey in 1979, every year feels different from the one before. We are constantly learning and adapting to this ever-changing world of risk. We take much pride in the difference that Spencer Educational Foundation has made in the lives of students and professionals in the risk management and insurance disciplines. Through the overwhelming generosity of individuals and companies within the industry, the Foundation continues to provide scholarships and programs that attract and retain outstanding talent for our industry. And none of us will soon forget the support we received in 2007.

In April, XL Capital Ltd announced a $100,000 contribution, which will be used to establish the Ian R. Heap Memorial Scholarship to be awarded annually in $5,000 lots starting in 2008. Then in June, the Risk and Insurance Management Society, Inc. (RIMS) Dallas-Fort Worth Chapter bestowed a $100,000 commitment. The donation will be used to award $5,000 scholarships to students whose permanent residence is in Texas and are pursuing a degree in risk management or insurance. And in December, RIMS announced a $300,000 donation—one of the largest in the Foundation's history. RIMS gift will increase the amount of scholarships awarded to part-time masters students, support the Risk Manager in Residence and Internship programs, and promote the study of Enterprise Risk Management in universities and continuing education programs. This year we also awarded the first William J. Clagnaz ACE USA Memorial Scholarship to Patrice Cameron, an undergraduate student enrolled at St. John's University.

In addition, we were fortunate to receive strong support from RIMS chapters including Atlanta, Carolinas, Central Florida, Connecticut Valley, Dallas-Fort Worth, Delaware Valley, Greater Kansas City, Houston, Long Island, Los Angeles, New Jersey, New York, Orange County, St. Louis, San Diego, South Texas, Toledo, Oregon, Upstate New York, Utah and Washington.

The Foundation awarded a total of 41 scholarships amounting to $283,360 in 2007. In addition, $191,400, in program and university grants were extended including:

- $47,900 for Risk Manager in Residence grants to universities
- $78,500 for student internship awards to RIMS member employers
- $30,000 grant to RIMS Anita Benedetti Student Involvement Program
- $35,000 for grants to high school outreach and career promotion programs

You can rest assured that Spencer Educational Foundation's efforts will remain focused on enhancing the future of the risk management and insurance industry. On behalf of the hundreds of students that Spencer Educational Foundation assisted this year, I would like to extend sincere gratitude for your continued support and dedication to the Foundation's work in furthering the educational opportunities in the risk and insurance management disciplines. And we look forward to your continued support in going forward as we nurture the next generation of risk and insurance professionals.

Spencer Educational Foundation

Promotes the Future of Risk Management

“The attraction, development and retention of talent are key issues facing the insurance industry today,” said Richard Ward, Lloyd’s of London chief executive. “The [insurance] industry has a more difficult time attracting and retaining talent than other sectors of the financial services industry,” according to a Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu report. “That situation is poised to worsen at all job levels as baby-boomers retire, few top graduates move into the field and overlap among financial services encourages a loss of talent to banking and asset management.” (Global Insurance Industry Outlook, 2006).

The situation is particularly acute for the risk management profession. According to a 2004 Marsh study on risk manager demographics, 70 percent of participants had been in the field for more than 21 years, and most of the rest for more than 16 years. More than half of the respondents had no succession plan. One organization that is tackling the job of encouraging talented youth to pursue risk management careers is Spencer Educational Foundation.

“Intuitively, we know that demographics are against us,” said the Foundation’s chairperson, Donna Galer. But while addressing the talent void is important, it isn’t Spencer Educational Foundation’s sole raison d’être. “Bringing well qualified talent in and keeping them up to date is getting more difficult,” she said. To be successful, risk managers need an increasingly broader array of skills, and the Foundation is on the forefront of providing programs that bring the educational and developmental skills, as well as career opportunities, to this and the next generation of risk professionals.

To achieve its objectives, Spencer Educational Foundation has established five programs: scholarships, placing lecturing risk managers at colleges and universities, a student internship program, grants to colleges and universities, and an outreach program to high schools. These programs are funded by donations. “We get support from all facets of the insurance industry, including insurance companies, brokers, RIMS chapters, individuals and third party administrators,” according to Galer. “RIMS recently pledged $300,000. There is broad recognition that supporting Spencer Educational Foundation is good for the industry.” Other large recent commitments include $100,000 from the RIMS Dallas-Fort Worth Chapter, $30,000 from the RIMS Utah Chapter, $24,000 from the RIMS Los Angeles Chapter and $100,000 from XL Capital Ltd.

RIMS Los Angeles Chapter at its Day at the Races fundraising event for Spencer Educational Foundation.

While the goal of the Foundation is to provide encouragement and support to students, its activities benefit the insurance industry more broadly. “Many risk management departments don’t have entry-level positions,” noted Galer. “As a result, Spencer Educational Foundation scholarship recipients often begin their careers with insurance companies or brokers.” The 2004 Marsh study found that 63 percent of risk managers had worked for insurers or brokers. The makeup of the Foundation’s board of directors—which includes senior risk managers, and executives from major insurers and brokers—is a testament to the perceived importance of the Foundation to the commercial insurance sector.

Spencer Educational Foundation sees many encouraging signs for the next generation of risk professionals. The number of scholarship applications increases each year, and the caliber of applicant, according to Galer, is “truly impressive. The real challenge is continuing to generate the funds needed to support these gifted and aspiring students.”

“I highly doubt that I could be where I am now without the support of Spencer Educational Foundation. Not only has the Foundation provided me with crucial financial aid, but it has given me an incentive to push my limits and excel academically.”

Scholarships:

Rewarding Excellence

From the beginning, Spencer Educational Foundation's commitment has been to provide high-quality support to students in the risk management and insurance disciplines while advancing the future of the industry with top-notch professionals. In 2007, The Foundation awarded $283,360 in scholarships; $172,500 to full-time students and $111,360 to risk practitioners obtaining their MBA online or part-time. With increasing college tuition costs, these scholarships allow students to concentrate on achieving good grades and receive the necessary skills to successfully enter the industry as risk managers, brokers, actuaries, underwriters and other risk related fields. In addition, the Foundation's part-time masters scholarships enable practicing risk professionals to obtain advanced knowledge and tools to apply to their companies' existing risk management systems. All of the Foundation's awards are merit-based and do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, handicap or veteran status.

"I volunteered for the Risk Manager in Residence program because I really enjoy being around risk management students—they are bright, eager and soak up everything you have to say. Now that I have lectured three times in the program, I am hooked! I can say that it's the highlight of my year when I am selected by a university to lecture and I plan to accept any offer to share my knowledge with students."

Awareness and Guidance Programs

Risk Manager In Residence Program (RMIR)

Now in its 10th year, this program arranges for practicing risk managers to give lectures and presentations at colleges and universities across the country. Since 1997, the Foundation has invested $340,025 in the Risk Manager in Residence program. In 2007 the Foundation awarded 13 grants totaling at $47,900. Grants are awarded to institutions that host the program and cover costs associated with bringing a risk manager to a U.S. or Canadian campus to lecture for one to three days. The program has been praised by participating risk managers, universities and students as a rewarding educational experience. The Foundation continues to make enhancements to the program. This year, one-day lecture series were added to the ever popular three-day lectures and the application process was streamlined to make it easy for all parties to become involved.

Student Internship Program

Since 1998, grants of up to $5,000 have been awarded to RIMS chapters, RIMS member companies and Foundation supporters to employ gifted students for internships of eight weeks or more. The program is designed to provide students with a meaningful internship experience and maximum exposure to risk management issues facing today's practitioners. Students with a GPA of 2.7 or higher are matched with risk management companies and departments. As of December 2007, the Foundation has awarded $78,500 in internship grants.

Mentor Program

The Mentor Program pairs Spencer Scholars with practicing risk managers. The Foundation frequently receives requests from Spencer Scholars to appoint a mentor to advise on their course of study, areas of specialization and career direction. The program realizes that the best source of information is from someone who has direct experience. For that reason, the program seeks to apply the mentor's experience to the scholar's growing career.

"Spencer Educational Foundation has long been a champion of educating the next generation of risk and insurance professionals. RIMS Anita Benedetti Student Involvement Program provides students of risk and insurance management with the opportunity to attend the RIMS Annual Conference & Exhibition, enabling them to broaden their horizons by networking with many different professionals in the industry. We are grateful to the Foundation for its generous support of the program and helping us to provide this unique opportunity to promising students."

The Anita Benedetti Student Involvement Program

In 2007, the Foundation awarded a $30,000 grant to the Risk and Insurance Management Society, Inc. (RIMS) Anita Benedetti Student Involvement Program to enable aspiring risk management students to attend seminars and meet risk professionals at the RIMS Annual Conference & Exhibition in New Orleans.

The RIMS Anita Benedetti Student Involvement Program—originally dubbed the RIMS Student Involvement Program—was initiated as a pilot program at RIMS 1978 Annual Conference & Exhibition in New Orleans to provide funding for future risk managers to experience the premier risk management conference. Due to the project's overwhelming success, the program has continually covered the costs of promising risk and insurance management students to attend the RIMS Annual Conference. In 1997, the name was changed to RIMS

Anita Benedetti Student Involvement Program to honor the late Anita Benedetti, a former deputy executive director of RIMS and president of Spencer Educational Foundation, and to honor her dedication in mentoring and inspiring students pursuing a career within the industry.

High School Outreach Grants

This year, the Foundation awarded a $15,000 grant to Ball State University to conduct a risk management workshop for local high school teachers during the summer, and a $15,000 grant to Illinois State University—Katie School of Insurance's Red Bird Risk Management Program—to enable high school students to attend summer workshops in order to educate them about career opportunities in risk management disciplines.

Other Grants

The Foundation awarded a $5,000 grant to the Wisconsin Foundation for Independent Colleges (WFIC) to be applied towards the Wisconsin Undergraduate Insurance Education Institute portion of its overall program. This one-week program provides awareness and information to college and university undergraduates to consider the risk management and insurance industry as a viable career opportunity.

An audit includes consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Foundation's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Spencer Educational Foundation, Inc. at December 31, 2007 and 2006, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the years then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Summary of Accounting Policies

Organization Purpose

The Spencer Educational Foundation (the Foundation) is the premier foundation for awarding scholarships in risk management and insurance. The Foundation is a charitable and educational organization named in honor of the former president of the Risk and Insurance Management Society, Inc. (RIMS), the late Robert S. Spencer. Founded in 1979 by the Atlanta Chapter of RIMS, the Foundation provides academic scholarships to college and university students interested in pursuing a career in risk management, and other types of support for research projects dedicated to the advancement of the discipline.

The real story of the Foundation's success can only be told through the achievements of its scholars, the work of the institutions that further its mission, and the generosity of those that continue, year after year, to support the Foundation's purpose as it seeks to raise the level of awareness of the importance of risk management.

The Foundation's mission is to stimulate, promote and encourage promising students in the risk management discipline in fulfilling their educational goals, primarily by providing scholarship awards and educational grants.

Basis of Accounting

The financial statements of the Foundation have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Short term instruments with maturities of three months or less are considered to be cash and cash equivalents for the purposes of these financial statements, except money market funds held for long-term investment in the Foundation's investment portfolio.

Contributions Receivable

Unconditional promises to give that are expected to be collected within one year are recorded at their net realizable value. Unconditional promises to give that are expected to be collected in future years are recorded at the present value of estimated future cash flows. The discounts on those amounts are computed using risk free interest rates applicable to the years in which the promises are received. Accretion of the discount is included in contributions revenue. Management considers all promises to give to be fully collectible, therefore no allowance for doubtful accounts has been established.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment is recorded at cost. The Foundation capitalizes all expenditures for property and equipment over $1,000. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful life of the assets, which is four years. When assets are sold or otherwise disposed of, the asset and related accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts, and any remaining gain or loss is included in operations. Repairs and maintenance are charged to expense when incurred.

Investments

Investments are carried at readily determinable fair value with realized and unrealized gains and losses included in the statements of activities.

Grants Payable

The Foundation recognizes a liability for grants payable at the time they have an obligation to transfer the promised assets in the future, generally when a specific grant is approved or the recipient is notified.

Summary of Accounting Policies

Unrestricted Net Assets

Unrestricted net assets are used to fund the general operations of the Foundation.

Temporarily Restricted Net Assets

Temporarily restricted net assets consist of amounts that are subject to donor restrictions. The Foundation is permitted to use up or expend the donated assets in accordance with the donor's restriction.

The Foundation reports gifts of cash and other assets as restricted support if they are received with donor stipulations that limit the use of the donated assets. When a donor restriction expires, that is, when a purpose restriction is accomplished or stipulated time restriction ends, temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and reported in the statements of activities as net assets released from restrictions. If donors do not specify usage of funds in a specific time period, they are not considered to be time restricted.

If the restriction is met in the same period in which the revenue is recognized, the revenue is recognized as unrestricted support.

Permanently Restricted Net Assets

Permanently restricted net assets consist of assets whose use is limited by donor imposed restrictions that neither expire by the passage of time nor can be fulfilled or otherwise removed by action of the Foundation. The restrictions stipulate that resources be maintained permanently but permit the Foundation to expend the income generated in accordance with the provisions of the agreement. Income earned on permanently restricted net assets that is expended in the same period in which it is earned is classified as unrestricted by the Foundation.

Functional Allocation of Expenses

The costs of providing various program and supporting activities have been summarized on a functional basis in the statements of activities. Accordingly, certain costs have been allocated among the program and supporting services benefited.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of the financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Financial Instruments and Credit Risk

Financial instruments which potentially subject the Foundation to concentrations of credit risk consist principally of cash and cash equivalents, contributions receivable, and investments. The Foundation places its cash and cash equivalents and investments with creditworthy financial institutions. The Foundation maintains its cash balance in an account which, at times, may exceed the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) insurance limit. The Foundation has not experienced any losses in the account. The Foundation believes it is not exposed to any significant credit risk on its cash and cash equivalents. Credit risk with respect to contributions receivable is limited as a large number of the amounts are due from donors spread over a wide geographic region. As of December 31, 2007, the Foundation has no significant concentration of credit risk.

Reclassifications

Certain amounts from the 2006 financial statements have been reclassified to conform with the 2007 financial statement presentation.

1. Tax Status

The Foundation has been granted exemption by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) from Federal income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. In addition, the IRS has determined that the Foundation is not a private foundation.

Contributions receivable consist of the following unconditional promises to give as of:

December 31,	2007	2006
